

Megan Ann Clark Young

Genealogy Speaker

Megan Clark Young is the owner of MACY's Genealogical Research and is a nationally recognized genealogy speaker. A resident of western Pennsylvania, Megan is active in several societies and organizations, including serving as the president of the Western Pennsylvania Genealogical Society (2024-2025), where she has also chaired the First Families of Western Pennsylvania lineage society since 2020.

Her most notable genealogical education includes a Certificate in Genealogical Research from Boston University, ProGen (48) Study Group, the Genealogical Research Institute of Pittsburgh (GRIP), and the Institute of Genealogy and Historical Research (IGHR).

Megan has recently presented for the:

- National Genealogical Society
- Association of Professional Genealogists
- Allen County Public Library
- Pennsylvania Historical Society
- Virginia Genealogical Society
- Western Pennsylvania Genealogical Society
- Numerous Regional and Local Societies

Testimonials

“Megan is a very engaging presenter, and the content was very informative.”

“Megan was our most popular speaker and it is easy to see why: she’s extremely knowledgeable about a difficult topic while keeping her lectures engaging. We would have her back any time.”

“Very clear and great examples.
I learned so much!”

Scan for a list of current presentations.

Megan offers a variety of presentations on methodology, land records, court records, Pennsylvania research, Presbyterian research, and Scots-Irish research.

If you don't see a topic you're looking for, just ask.

Megan is available to present virtually and in person (schedule permitting).

●● www.macysgenealogy.com ●●
meganyoung@macysgenealogy.com

MACY's Genealogical Research
Deep Roots, Not Shaky Leaves